Updated Aerial Imagery to City of Kearney's GIS Homebase Website:

The City of Kearney's Homebase GIS website enables the public to search and view GIS information related to the City through a mapping interface that contains various layers, links, scans, and other data sources. Amongst these valuable data sources is aerial imagery and we are pleased to announce the recent addition of 2022 aerial photos to the Homebase GIS website.

Visitors to the site can expect to search for and find information related to the following:

- Subdivisions, easements, and addresses
- City Utilities like water, sanitary sewer, and storm sewer
- Zoning
- School district boundaries
- Trash, recycling, and yard waste pick-up days
- Voting precinct information
- Links to Buffalo County Assessor data (through Selection panel on left hand side)

The above detailed information can be toggled on and off through the "Layers" tab in the top righthand corner. In addition, now site users will be able to view more recent aerial images since the City's aerial vendor flew over the community in spring 2022 capturing new aerial photos. The City of Kearney and Buffalo County partner to have updated aerial imagery provided every 3 years. These aerial images appear in the map as ortho images that underlay other GIS layers but users also have the option to access the images in 3D by using the "Pictometry" tab in the map. The City of Kearney encourages citizens to use this GIS database on our City website to access information about your property or other areas of our community.

To access the Homebase map directly, visit <http://kearneyne.map.beehere.net>. It can also be accessed through the Maps/GIS link on our website homepage.
